

Stacy Taeuber Bio

Stacy has over 15 years of experience as an immigrant rights advocate and public defender. In addition to practicing in New York, Arizona, Florida and Wisconsin, Stacy founded and directed the Immigration Clinic at the University of Wisconsin and was a visiting professor at the University of Minnesota's Clinical Program. Stacy is passionate about providing Padilla-related assistance, as well as supporting WDA members in engaging with communities and advocating for policies and practices that reflect necessary systemic change (such as immigration-safe deferred adjudication agreements and enforcing RCW prohibitions against local law enforcement collaborating with ICE and Border Patrol).
